

January CORE Classes

Five-week classes beginning January 10 & 11, 2018

REGISTRATION is required for these classes online at www.wayzatacommunitychurch.org/januaryCORE

Christian Ethics: A deep dive into current moral issues

Teachers: Rev. Rustin Comer and Maggie Pierson

Wednesdays at 10 a.m., 4 p.m. and 7:15 p.m.

$20 class fee

Do you wonder how to have constructive conversations with those that differ in thinking about things that matter the most in life? Take a deep dive into the world of Christian ethics through current hot button issues: #metoo and the sexual abuse climate; issues of sexuality; issues of violence; and issues of life and death. We will explore these topics and many more through the lens of Christian practice.

The Gift of Being Yourself

Teacher: Rev. Danielle Jones

Wednesdays at 4 p.m. and 7:15 p.m.

$20 class fee.

Much is said in Christian circles about knowing God. But there cannot be deep knowledge of God without deep knowledge of one's self. Genuine self-understanding revitalizes our spiritual life and leads to the fulfillment of our God-given destiny and vocation. Join Danielle Jones for a study on David Benner's book, The Gift of Being Yourself.

Does the Spirit Still Speak through the Hebrew Scriptures?

Teacher: Ron Troxel

Thursdays at 6:15 p.m.

$20 class fee

The foreignness of the Bible faces us everytime we read it. Its customs, assumptions, and language remind us that it comes from another time and place. At least the New Testament proclaims Jesus's good news that is central to our faith. But what can redeem the foreignness of the Hebrew Scriptures? Perhaps we should reconsider what these writings afford by understanding how their authors voiced conceptions of faith through the images and ideas current in their world.

Led by our speakers Elizabeth Carlson and Debra Lindell, the retreat program will guide each woman to identify an area of personal longing, using it to grow in her faith journey with God and others. The weekend will also provide the opportunity to discover spiritual direction with Rev. Andrea Wichhart Tatley. Read more on our website at www.wayzatacommunitychurch.org/soulsistersretreat.

Toxic Charity: A Sermon Series

How could charity ever be toxic? How is it possible for us to hurt those we seek to help? Under what circumstances is charity more harmful than helpful? What respectable person of faith would ever knowingly participate in something that steals the dignity and self-worth of another human? These are among the questions we seek to answer through a sermon series this month under the same title as the book, Toxic Charity, by Robert Lupton. As we ask and answer these and other questions, we will also draw examples from the charitable efforts of WCC.

January Blankets & More Drive

Each year in January, WCC collects blankets for people who have to sleep on the floor at the Salvation Army due to overcrowding. Last year we collected almost 600 blankets with your support. This year, we would also like to help over 300 students who are experiencing homelessness—with gloves/mittens and hygiene items such as toothbrushes, toothpaste, deodorant, soap, shampoo, and feminine hygiene items. Please place your donations in each of the green buckets located at all WCC entrances. Every donation counts! Please help us fill all our buckets to overflowing so that those who are so young, and cannot exist on what they earn, can stay warm and healthy during the cold months ahead. Read more about our January mission at www.wayzatacommunitychurch.org/mittensandmore.

Coffeehouse Concerts

Enjoy Friday evenings with great music! Founders Hall will be transformed into a European Coffeehouse, featuring fabulous music, steamy coffee drinks from roastlab, and delicious desserts (included in the price of your ticket)! We have an amazing line-up of music guests this year. Doors open at 7 p.m., and music begins at 7:30 p.m. Tickets ($10) available at the door.

Today, 10:10-10:40 a.m.

As part of our Toxic Charity series, WCC will host key leaders from some of our mission partners. Today we welcome Brian Jones from Innové Studios. Innové Studios is a pioneering method for missions that empowers churches to coach, resource, and launch social innovation ideas. It does this by drawing older and younger generations together for a common cause, mobilizing the vast array of gifts found in churches – arts people, social services people, accountants, lawyers, managers, marketers, technologists, and more – to do what they do best for the sake of the world.
